Re: Latest CEV Board of Administration decision

Dear National Federations Presidents,
Dear European Volleyball clubs,
Dear Volleyball community,

Following the initial decisions adopted by the CEV to remove official events from Russia, I would like to inform you on behalf of my colleagues from the CEV Board of Administration, about our latest decision:

1. To immediately declare all Russian and Belarusian national teams, ineligible for participation in CEV Volleyball competitions until further notice;
2. To immediately declare all Russian and Belarusian club teams ineligible for participation in CEV European Cups competitions until further notice;
3. To immediately declare all Russian and Belarusian athletes ineligible for participation in CEV Beach Volleyball competitions until further notice;
4. To immediately declare all Russian and Belarusian athletes ineligible for participation in CEV Snow Volleyball competitions until further notice;
5. To immediately declare all Russian and Belarusian officials, including delegates, supervisors, referees etc. ineligible for participation in CEV competitions until further notice;
6. To immediately suspend all Russian and Belarusian members from the CEV organs until further notice.

The CEV Board of Administration took this decision for the integrity of our sport, but in particular to ensure 1) fairness to Ukrainian athletes, teams, clubs and officials who are currently unable from participating in CEV events and 2) the safety of all participants.

The CEV continues to closely monitor the situation together with the FIVB. It may adapt its decisions and measures according to future developments. We regret the consequences for individuals, clubs and national teams and hope that all members of the European Volleyball family will be united again in peace the soonest.

With my best personal regards,

Aleksandar BORIČIĆ
CEV President
